The AnyMirror app is the most sophisticated tool for mirroring your phone's screen on your Mac or PC. Pairing your device with your Mac or PC over USB is a two-step process. After the second step, you can start mirroring your phone screen to your computer in an instant. What You Get:

- Mirror your iPhone / iPad screen on your computer
- Create a video call on any device (phone, tablet, Apple Watch or Mac)
- Download videos in formats MP4, MOV and AVI
- Add a face detection option to the phone camera so it recognizes who is on the screen
- Enable a face id feature so you can add a unique face ID to your profile
- Record videos and get video capture screenshots
- Highlight, annotate, and copy text from the device's screen
- Share photos and videos in email and social media
- Use the built-in AirPlay for streaming audio and video over your home Wi-Fi
- Create your own screenshare playlists and set the order of playback
- Remote control your Mac or PC using your iPhone / iPad

The AnyMirror app is the simplest and most convenient way to capture and share the contents of your phone screen. It uses a camera and microphone to detect your face or create a custom face ID and quickly connects your iPhone or iPad to your computer. Use it to create a seamless communication tool for your PC, Apple Watch, iPad, or iPhone. Anything that happens on the screen of your iPhone or iPad gets instantly mirrored on your Mac or PC. There's no need to download software, install anything, or set up any special hardware. Note: Due to the Apple TV only being available in select regions, only those countries will be able to use AnyMirror in its native application form. Features:

What's New in the AnyMirror?

If you're looking for a good program to cast the contents on your smartphone to your computer, AnyMirror is a suitable option. It's a simple program with a straightforward interface that allows you to cast the contents on your phone to your computer. The program is built specifically for iPhone and Android devices, and the process to pair your phone and computer through USB is as simple as you'd expect. On a side note, the app also allows you to stream your audio and video files to popular videoconferencing apps such as Teams, Zoom, GoToMeeting, and more. When we used the program, we were able to annotate and highlight elements on the video feed from the app, all in real-time. Whatever we did on our smartphone was mirrored to our computer, including the audio. Annotating and audio sharing are also possible. When we used the program, we were able to annotate and highlight elements on the video feed from the app, all in real-time. Whatever we did on our smartphone was mirrored to our computer, including the audio. Furthermore, the integration with popular videoconferencing apps and the ability to stream your audio and video files to these services bring a lot of added value to an already attractive offer.
